500 new names on Legco register 10-1

MORE than 500 new names have been added to this year's list of Legislative Council electors, while over 4,000 from the 1985 register have been omitted.

Particulars of 5,137 corporate electors and 37,727 individual electors are listed in the Register of Legislative Council Electors, 1986, which will be released today.

The register will remain valid for the next 12 months, a Government spokesman said.

"While amendments can still be made, there will not be any additions to the register during this period."

The omissions were mainly individuals who failed to register on the general electoral roll during last year's registration exercise, the spokesman added.

The 1986 register has recorded 436 electors in the 12 electoral college constituencies and 5,137 corporate electors in the functional constituencies.

The number of individual electors in the functional constituencies listed are 37,291.
